The Election Yesterday.

At this writing (2 A. M) we have returns and partial returns from six of the ten townships of the county, viz: Washing ton, Centre, Webster, Ritchie, Richland and Triadelphia. The count is still going on in Madison, Clay and Union, three of the largest and most important districts in the county. Without these townships, and that of West Liberty, it is impossible to predict the result in the county with any degree of accuracy. Goff made a heavy inroad on the accustomed Democratic majority in Washington township, having gained 114 on his vote of 1870, and 47 on Davis' vote in 1873. 1870 of 133. On the other hand he loses Richland. These gains and losses leave Richland. These gains and losses leave him some 193 votes ahead of his vote in 1870. He lost the county in that year by 411 votes and it does not seem probable 93, Boteler 52, Arnett 96, Farbee 49, 411 votes, and it does not seem probable

The news from Wood county and, as far as received, from Harrison, and also from Doddridge, looks well. It is, how-ville precinct gives Faulkner 148, Boteler ever, impossible to form any opinion as to how the District has gone. He has Prichard 130, Moore 50, Merrifield 38, gained over 400 votes in Wood compared with '70, 58 in Hancock county, 197 in Doddridge, and he seems (by the Cameron dispatch) to be gaining on his former vote in Marshall, All these are good indications as far as they go, but there is too much territory unheard from to speculate upon the general result. The majority against him in '70 was 1,061. We have hopes that Marshall, Tyler, Ritchie, Doddridge and Harrison will pull him through when we get the news.

The returns for Senator in this district indicate the election of General Pan-NELL, the Democratic candidate. He runs ahead of Colonel Wilson, seems especially strong in Brooke county, where his "next friend" has rendered him conspicuous service. In this county his friends worked hard for him as a rebuke to the proprietor of the Register, whose mysterious card is generally considered by the Democracy as an assault with intent to kill the Father

As to the House of Delegate tickets_it is hard to say how the count will pan out. Dovener runs somewhat shead of the balance of the Republican ticket, but is still behind the lowest candidate on the Democratic ticket. But we shall defer all guessing as to the absolute result until the returns are received from the remaining townships.

LATER-4 A M .- Since the above was in type we have the returns from Madison and Union townships. The vote in these districts fails to elect any part of the Republican Legislative ticket, and we presume it may be conceded that the Democracy have elected their candidates to the House of Delegates and the Senator from this District. As to Congressman, we shall probably hear enough to-day to form a pretty good idea whether the General or the Colonel will have the honor to represent us at Washington. We from Marshall, Harrison, Ritchie and
